Pittsburg Area Retail Sales Projected to Be Healthy in 2015

Pittsburg's status as the seat of the Pittsburg Micropolitan Area and the location of Pittsburg State University, with 7,500 students, has implications for retail sales. In 2014 the Micropolitan area's biggest category of retail sales (including food services) were general merchandise sales, by a wide margin. Statewide and nationwide, motor vehicle dealer sales (including parts) were by far the biggest category.

In 2014, total estimated retail sales in the 255 retail establishments (including eating and drinking places) in the Pittsburg Micropolitan Area increased to $484.0 million, up three percent from 2013. The category that accounted for most sales was general merchandise stores with sales of $109.9 million (accounting for 22.7 percent of all sales in the Micropolitan area), followed by gasoline stations, $61.1 million (12.6 percent of all sales); motor vehicles, etc., $60.4 million (12.5 percent); food and beverage stores, $55.3 million (11.4 percent); eating and drinking places, $53.8 million (11.1 percent); and all other categories, $143.5 million (29.7 percent).

Total retail sales are expected to increase to $499.3 million in 2015 (up $15.3 million), with sales of general merchandise stores expected to have the most increase in sales ($3.7 million), followed by motor vehicle dealer sales, including parts (up $2.0 million); non-store retail sales (up $1.8 million); eating and drinking places (up $1.6 million); gasoline stations (up $1.5 million); building materials (etc.) (up $1.2 million); health and personal care sales ($1.2 million); and food and beverage store sales (up $1.1 million). COMMERCIAL PERMITS

Pittsburg State University has just completed one large-scale construction project, and two are near completion. Construction of the $33 million 90,000 square foot Bicknell Family Center for the Arts, featuring a 1,100-seat performance hall, a 250-seat theater, a 3,500 square-foot art gallery, and state-of-the-art technology, was completed in December 2014. The Bicknell Center will provide a venue for high-profile events in the future. Construction of the 154,000 square foot, $13 million Robert W. Plaster Center, which will include a 100-yard turf field, an 11,000-square-foot modern strength facility, a 300-meter track, and seating for up to 1,500, is scheduled for completion in late summer 2015. The $16 million expansion of the Overman Student Center is scheduled for completion this fall. Approximately 13.4 percent of the jobs in the Pittsburgh Micropolitan Area are in office and administrative support, according to recently released information from the US Census. The local market for office space is in relatively good shape and showing a slight uptick, with office space rents increasing slightly in 2014, according to Jones Heritage Realtors, with office space rentals starting at an average low of $2.50 per square foot (on a gross basis), increasing to an average high of $10 per sq. ft. and as high as $16 per sq. ft. for prime locations. COMMERCIAL AND MULTI-FAMILY LAND VALUES

Construction has begun for a new $9,296,000 multi-family housing complex with 74 apartment units in south Pittsburgh on a 254,814 square foot lot that sold more than a year ago to a Texas firm. The apartment complex, which will be close to the intersection of Rouse Avenue and Centennial Street, will have rental rates in the $500 range and is expected to open for business this August. This is good news for the local area because there is a lack of multi-family housing, and vacancy rates are very low. The vacancy rate for rental housing in the Pittsburgh area is currently only 4.6 percent, according to The Novogradac & Company LLP.

Multi-family land prices start at an average of $1 per square foot in secondary locations and increase to an average of $2 per square foot. However, multi-family land prices can increase to $3 per square foot for prime locations close to Pittsburgh State University.

LODGING INDUSTRY

The average occupancy rate increased to 61.3 percent in Pittsburg in October 2014, up from 60.5 percent from the same month last year. Occupancy was 54.1 percent in Southeast Kansas during the month (down from 56.5 percent), 65.0 percent statewide (up from 62.2 percent), and 68.0 percent nationwide (up from 64.6 percent).

The fact that the Pittsburg area Lodging Industry is doing well is good news for the Micropolitan area because tourism spending represents a net infusion of funds to the area, and 80 cents of every tourism dollar spent in the Pittsburg area gets re-spent locally, according to the Crawford County Convention and Tourism Bureau.

Average occupancy during the first 10 months of 2014 was 64.1 percent in Pittsburg (up from 56.3 percent during the same period in 2013), 54.9 percent in Southeast Kansas (up from 54.1 percent), 60.3 percent statewide (up from 57.4 percent), and 66.0 percent nationwide (up from 63.7 percent)

COST OF LIVING

The cost of living is one of the most important and most watched economic indicators because how much money households need to have to provide for themselves has important implications for quality of life. Housing is the biggest expenditure item by far for the average family, although the impact of housing is declining because the economy is picking up, wages are increasing, and new housing prices declined in the housing market collapse of 2008.

Other major expenditures are transportation. According to the Center for Regional Economic Competitiveness, the cost of living in the Pittsburg area is 92.1 percent of the national average, 72.7 percent for housing and 92.2 percent for transportation.

Households within Pittsburg enjoy a significant savings for all occupations.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

SKILL TRADE WORKER IN KANSAS DOWN

90% of Kansas contracting firms surveyed for a recent report say they are having trouble filling open positions. The report was created by the associated General Contractors of America, which surveyed 1,000 contractors nationwide. Among the 20 Kansas contractors surveyed, the jobs most difficult to fill include plumbers, pipefitters, and welders due to a lack of qualified applicants. In July, the Bicknell family foundation donated $1 million to southeast Kansas schools to build a technical education center in Pittsburg for student to learn skilled trades.

CBW, a redbrick bank in Weir, Kansas, owned by Suresh Ramamurthi and Suchitra Padmanabhan is out to find solutions to logjams that vex consumers all over the country attempting to move money from one bank to another and across international borders. The Pittsburg Education Foundation announced Oct. 30 that it finalized the purchase of a building that it hopes will house a Southeast Kansas technical education center. The Foundation purchased the building in Pittsburg's industrial park, which once housed the Vinylplex facility, for nearly $900,000.00. Word toward the creation of a centralized tech center for area school districts and colleges was first announced in July with Pittsburg's Bicknell family donation of $1 million to the project. The school will act as a center for programs in welding, masonry, construction, and culinary arts, among others.
